A HOUSE WARMING

The Nittany Country Club Opens Its Doors.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL FUNCTION

Which Took Place on Monday Evening—Nearly One Hundred Guests Were Present—Many From a Distance.

DANCING AND REFRESHMENTS

The Nittany Country Club threw open the doors of their beautiful club house at Hecla Park for the first time under the new management Monday evening. The function was called a "house warming" and was a most enjoyable occasion and one that will be long remembered by those so fortunate as to be present.

The guests left Bellefonte about 7 o'clock on the regular train returning about midnight on a special train. At the club house they were cordially received by Col. Spangler, the president of the club and by the vice-president J. W. Gephart together with the house committee. The most open handed hospitality was dispensed and everyone was made cordially welcome. The handsome club house never looked better or more inviting.

The guests roamed through the rooms playing games indulging in social conversation etc. On the wide verandas dancing took place to the music of Smith's orchestra of Bellefonte. The orchestra was highly complimented for their splendid playing.

During the evening Miss Lillian Cryder, of Pittsburg, added greatly to the pleasure of those present by giving a delightful dance. Miss Cryder is grace personified and has drawn several prizes in Pittsburg for excellent dancing. She is visiting Mrs. Ed Irvin at the Bush House.

During the evening choice refreshments were served in the dining room.

The officers of the newly organized Nittany Country Club are President—Col. J. L. Spangler; vice-president, J. W. Gephart; Treasurer, George R. Meek; Secretary, Edmund Blanchard.

The Board of Governors—R B. Freeman, Robert Morris, L. T. Munson, Dr. Joseph Brockerhoff, W. Harrison Walker.

House Committee—Henry C. Quigley, Hardman P. Harris, Geo. R. Meek.

It is to be hoped that the Nittany Country Club will continue to flourish and prosper and that many more just such enjoyable events may take place within its doors.

The following is a list of the guests present as near as we could obtain them.

Broke His Neck.

WILLIAMSPORT, August. 11.—Alfred Snyder, an employe of Derr's livery, was found dead in a carriage on Saturday morning by employes of the stable and the circumstances surrounding the death are peculiar.

It seems that at 1:30 Friday night a man came into the stable and asked to be driven to a certain point. About 3:20 one of the policemen saw Snyder in front of the Park Hotel in a drunken condition. He was told to drive on and nothing more was heard of the fellow until he was found dead Saturday morning.

It is supposed that he fell forward while in the stupor in such a manner as to break his neck on the dash-board, as he was found in a reclining position.

Both Legs Crushed Off.

Clarence G. Gardner, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, met with a fatal accident while at work in the yards at Williamsport at 8:45 o'clock Thursday night. Both legs were crushed off up to the knees and he was hurried to the hospital, but he was suffering so much from the shock that amputation could not be made and he died at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Gardner's home is at Sunbury and he formerly lived at North Bend, Clinton county. He is aged 27 years and is married.

His run was between Sunbury and Renovo and Thursday night at the time of the accident his train was west bound. The crew was engaged in setting off cars here when Gardner probably slipped on the wet cinders, falling under the wheels with the above result.

Fear of Smallpox Epidemic.

The health authorities of Pennsylvania fear a general epidemic of smallpox as soon as the cool weather of autumn sets in, and the sanitary officers in all the towns and cities are being quietly urged to exert every effort to prevent the disease gaining a foothold in their respective communities.

Smallpox is slowly but surely gaining a foothold in many cities of the state, but the fact is kept secret by the authorities and the press of the communities where the disease exists. In Philadelphia last week there were ten deaths from the contagion.

A Very Acceptable Donation.

Recently a party of ladies in Bellefonte effected an informal organization to make a combination donation to the hospital. They decided to make gowns for the patients and so enthusiastically did they enter into the spirit of the work that the last of a lot of fifty have just been sent to the institution.

They did the sewing at times when there was no conflict with other duties and while none of them feel that they have made much of a sacrifice in doing it the gift is one that the hospital greatly appreciates and many a poor patient will have reason to feel grateful for. Those who were in the party of sewers, were Mesdames C. F. Montgomery, W. F. Reeder, W. F. Reynolds, D. H. Hastings, Ross Hickok, Rankin, E. H. Richard, Jos. Montgomery, L. T. Munson, Howard Lingle, Tom Shoemaker, I. Mitchell, Henry Quigley, Mary Meek, H. E. Fenlon, Mary Blanchard, Mary Butts, Mary Thomas, J. M. Dale, Johnson, E. Natt, A. Merriman, Mollie Valentine, Lizzie Calloway, Burns Crider, Mary Brockerhoff, W. L. Daggett, Ellis Orvis, Louise Valentine, R. G. H. Hayes, and Harry Keller.

—Christ Beezer has purchased Fred McCulley's livery stable and will conduct the same in the future.

THE DEEDS TURNED OVER

Commissioner Meehan Receives Them on Behalf of State.

AT A MEETING IN COURT HOUSE

Judge John G. Love Made the Presentation Speech—The Fish Commission Visited Hatchery Site and Later Were Entertained at Nittany Country Club.

A MOST AUSPICIOUS OCCASION

One of the most important events that has transpired in Bellefonte for some time was the public presentation to the State in the Court House on Thursday afternoon of the deeds for the land upon which the new State Fish Hatchery is to be located.

The speech of presentation was made by Judge John G. Love who in a few appropriate remarks turned over to Mr. Meehan, representing Gov. Pennypacker, the deeds properly signed for the 15 acres of land located at Pleasant Gap station which the citizens of Centre County have so generously donated.

Commissioner Meehan accepted them on behalf of the state in a graceful and appropriate speech.

Mr. Meehan and his Chief Clerk Major Barton D. Evans, who is also secretary of the Board arrived here on Wednesday night and were quartered at the Bush House. The following members of the Commission were also here: John Hamberger, of Erie; Henry C. Cox, of Wellsboro; Andrew R. Whittaker, of Phoenixville and Charles L. Miller, of Altoona.

The local committee who have worked so hard to secure the Hatchery for Centre County formed themselves into a reception committee and did everything in their power to make the visitors stay in Bellefonte a pleasant one. Many of our most prominent citizens called at the Bush House and paid their respects to the distinguished state officials.

Carriages were provided and the visitors were driven to the Court House where the public exercises incident to the presentation took place. The Coleville band was present and previous to the meeting discoursed some of their delightful music.

After the presentation had taken place the secretary of the board of Fish Commissioners read the following resolution:

To the Generous Citizens of Centre County:

At a meeting of the Fisheries Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania held at Bellefonte, Pa., this 6th day of August A. D., 1903, it was unanimously Resolved that the sincerest thanks of the Department of Fisheries Commission be tendered to the public spirited citizens who so generously donated the ground to the Commonwealth for the use of the Fisheries Commission for the erection of the Fish Hatchery.

This was received with applause as was also the announcement that the new Hatchery would be called the Bellefonte Hatchery.

After the meeting the local committee with a few invited guests took the visitors out to Pleasant Gap to view the site of the hatchery and from there drove down to the Nittany Country Club where the most generous hospitality was offered them by the members of the club and where a splendid chicken and waffle supper was served.

Those who sat down to the supper besides the Members of the Fish Commission were the following named gentlemen: Judge John G. Love, Col. Wilbur F. Reeder, John P. Harris, C. M. McCurdy, John M. Shugert, Joseph L. Montgomery, H. C. Quigley, W. Harrison Walker, Hardman P. Harris, Edward L. Hoy, S. Kline Woodring, Joseph Rightnour, James Furst, William Noll, C. Hoy, Fred Kurtz Sr., Francis Speer, Robert Montgomery, John Knisely and Earle C. Tuten.

At the close of the supper Judge Love acted as toastmaster and called on several of the members of the Fish Commission, they responding in a happy vein. After enjoying the hospitality of the club until about 8 o'clock, carriages were ordered and the guests conveyed back to Bellefonte. Commissioner Meehan and his colleagues expressed themselves as highly pleased with their entertainment here. They highly complimented our community for the public spiritedness shown in so quickly raising the funds needed to purchase the hatchery. Commissioner Meehan also stated that by locating the new hatchery here they hoped to increase the annual output of trout fry from four to ten million.

A Thrilling Experience.

Mrs. Joseph Button, whose home is on the turnpike near Hanneyville, Centre county, had a thrilling experience a few days ago. Leaving her one year old child playing on the kitchen floor, she went to the pasture nearby to milk the cows, stopping on her way back to get vegetables. In this way nearly a half hour had elapsed. As she neared the house her ears caught the prattling of her baby. Hastening to the house Mrs. Button was horrified to see a monster rattlesnake, half coiled on the floor within two feet of the baby. The rattles were buzzing furiously and the ugly head was elevated and swaying from side to side. Mrs. Button realized it was about to strike. The baby had in his hands a birch switch, and with this was endeavoring to strike the serpent. It was this fact aroused the snake's temper. The child had the switch upraised and was about to give the snake a playful blow. Almost fainting the mother tottered toward her child. Her strength gave way and she fell against the baby's high chair which stood near the door. Her arm rested against something soft, and an angry rattle aroused her to action. Another rattlesnake was coiled on the seat of the chair. The woman was in the same peril as the child. Springing farward she hurled the two gallons of milk that she carried at the reptile on the floor, at the same time deluging the baby. The effect was instantaneous. Ceasing its rattling the reptile on the floor started for the door. Mrs. Button seized a broom and broke its neck. At this moment the snake on the high chair struck at the woman and barely missed her, falling upon the floor near the baby, but the mother soon dispatched it also.

World's Young Men's Christian Association Meeting.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the World's Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations is held this week in Geneva, Switzerland. Clarence J. Hicks and John R. Mott, associate secretaries with Richard C. Morse of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, represent the American Associations. Leading men of the Association from all countries comprise the committee. Among the members are Sir George Williams, who founded the Association in London in 1844; Prince Oscar Bernadotte represents Sweden; Count Bernstoriff, Germany; K. Ibuka, Japan; and James Stokes, Hon. Cephas Brainerd, H. B. Ames, Esq. and R. C. Morse, America. The president of the committee is Prof. Edouard Barde, of Geneva. A feature of the meeting was the presentation to Charles Fermaud, for twenty five years General Secretary of the committee, of a large sum of money, in recognition of his work of twenty-five years in developing the Associations in Europe, which now number 4,551. The World's Committee has trebled its force in a few years, and is rapidly extending Associations in Russia, Portugal, Spain and Greece. This committee established the National Committee of France, where Association development has been most pronounced of late. In Asia there are 280 Associations, of which 43 are in China, and 151 in India, and 54 in Japan. There are 20 in Africa and 18 in Oceanica. America has by far the largest membership, numbering 350,455, and possesses nearly four times as much property as all the other countries in the world combined. Great Britain has 235 Associations with 98,449 members, owning buildings valued at $3,000,000.

Tokyo, Japan, this year celebrated its financial independence. It was hitherto depended upon the American Associations for most of its support. Several hundred members are enrolled as "students of Christianity."

The army Association secretary in one of the Philippine camps combined with the Catholic chaplain to make pay day so attractive to men that they are kept away from the saloons. Here is a telegram received by the secretary from the chaplain:—"Pay day today; come over and help hold the men." Another one read, "Can you come with the 'Life of Christ' lecture to-night?" The result was that the keepers of the canteens outside bewailed a "dry pay day."

Just outside the water-gate of the Tartar City, Peking, China, a little building has been secured for a Soldiers' Association, which has been conducted by L. J. Christian, a United States Army Hospital Corps man, who has given his services for six months without salary. The expenses of $25 a month are paid by the soldiers.

THE BLEACHERS GAVE WAY

Terrible Accident at the Philadelphia Base Ball Park.

NINE DEAD, ONE HUNDRED INJURED

Drunken Fight on Philadelphia Street Caused Overcrowding of Boardwalk and It Dropped Twenty Feet.

CURIOSITY LED TO THE ACCIDENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—Five additional deaths occurred yesterday as the result of the accident Saturday at the Philadelphia National League base ball park, making a total of eight fatalities. Two hundred victims were treated at the various hospitals and it is believed that fully 100 more received attention at various drug stores in the vicinity of the ball grounds. Of the injured still in the hospitals five are said to be in a critical condition. The list of the dead follows:

William Rodgers, 60 years; Matthew P. Reed, 50 years; Joseph Edgar, 45 years; Nicholas Moses, 55 years; Edward Williamson, 30; William J. Graham, 26 years; George Cunningham, 50 years; Louis McGrath, 28 years; unknown man.

The physicians and nurses at the several hospitals to which the injured were conveyed worked unceasingly throughout the night, securing no rest and taking little nourishment.

Coroner Dugan yesterday began an investigation into the causes of the accident. No date has been set for the inquests, but the Coroner said they would be held within ten days.

"The investigation will be thorough and rigid," said Coroner Dugan.

"If there has been any criminal negligence the responsible persons will be held accountable," he added.

The Coroner and police officials decided today to permit the playing of scheduled games. The left field bleachers will be roped off and the spectators will be allowed to occupy only the seats in the right field and the grandstand. Thousands of people yesterday visited the base ball park and the hospitals were thronged with friends and relatives of the injured.

A wooden gallery, overhanging one of the streets bounding the Philadelphia base ball park, giving way under the sudden pressure of hundreds of heedless spectators eager to witness a supposed street fight, at a quarter before 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was the cause of one of the most shocking disasters that has ever occurred in this city.

The accident itself as a spectacle was appalling, a dense mass of humanity hurling itself by sheer weight a distance of thirty feet to the flinty pavement, where it struck amid blood-curdling cries, and lay crushed, broken and mangled, in heaps and swaths, bodies overlapping bodies, many unconscious, but more struggling frantically in pain or fright.

Eight of the victims are dead and 167 persons injured had been reported at the hospitals. Scores of other injured had been able to go home, some after their wounds had been dressed by ambulance surgeons on the spot, others without any surgical attention whatever.

The houses in the vicinity of the base ball grounds gave shelter to many of those who fell with the awful crash while they partly recovered from the shock they had received. It is perfectly safe to estimate the total number of injured at more than 200.

The accident happened in the first half of the fourth inning of the second game between the Philadelphia and Boston clubs. They were at a tie and the interest of 11,000 spectators was intense. A disturbance in Fifteenth street, at a point just back of the left field bleachers, due to the act of a drunken man, caused the cry of "Fight" to be raised.

A rush by a part of the crowd to the top of the uncovered left field stand and upon the overhanging gallery followed, and in an instant it gave way, swayed forward and broke sharply off. The timber supports are said to have been rotten.

There was all possible haste in relieving the injured. Not only ambulances, but all other manner of vehicles were used, in order that no time might be lost in getting them to the hospitals.

HE FOOLED THE GIRLS.

And They Will Not Masquerade in the Future.

From Wellsboro comes an interesting story of how Chief of Police Wilcox outwitted seven girls who were masquerading in male attire. One morning recently, shortly after midnight, the officer heard a tremendous smashing of barrels and boxes down one of the alleys.

He investigated and ran across a crowd of seven persons who had the appearance of being young men. They led him a merry chase. Fleet of foot as he is they were yet fleeter and winded him. He laid in wait for them and when they came back to continue their depredations he captured the whole bunch. The officer marched them up under an electric light and they were all strangers. He could not recall that he had ever seen any of them before. A stronger light revealed that they were seven young women masquerading in men's attire and eventually he recognized them all but did not let them know.

On the march to the county jail the "boys" jostled one another, whistled to keep up their courage, spit off the curb and did all the manly things they could of but none spoke. A vigorous ringing of the door bell failed to arouse the jail inmates and the officer marshaled his captives to the rooms over the bank which are fitted as a kind of gymnasium. He insisted that among so many athletic young men there must be some good boxers, and brought out the gloves. The result was several of the fiercest bouts took place that those rooms ever witnessed.

He next filed the squad to the Hooks room and insisted that there must also be some musicians as well as dancers. Ragtime, cakewalks and clogs galore were forth-coming. He then marched his company down in the basement and put them in the lock-up, but immediately released them on the condition that they were to run footraces to their respective homes. He lined them all up on the cross walk, shouted "go" and they went, glad to get away, and the officer retired to his broken slumbers. It will be a long while before another awkward squad of females in male attire serenade Officer Wilcox.

Brakeman Fell to Quick Death.

Daniel Bowers, a brakeman on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad, whose home was at Julian, was instantly killed at 5 o'clock Friday evening a short distance west of Irwin by falling off his train.

Bowers went west from Altoona Friday afternoon on train No. 245, and while engaged in setting a brake, in some manner fell from his train and falling on the adjoining track, was struck by Way Passenger and instantly killed, the body being terribly mangled.

The remains were picked up and taken to Greensburg to be prepared for burial and were brought to Julian Saturday evening, where his parents reside.

Bowers was 25 years old and had been in the employ of the railroad company as a brakeman about a year. He is the third member of his family to meet with a violent death. One brother was killed on the railroad, another lost his life while engaged in logging, while still another lost a leg in an accident. His parents and two brothers survive.

Appointed Fish Warden.

County Detective Joseph W. Rightnour has a new title now. He has just received word of his appointment as Fish Warden by Governor Pennypacker. His territory covers Centre, Clearfield, Clinton and Lycoming counties.

Mr. Rightnour's appointment will be no doubt received with satisfaction as he is evidently the proper man for the position. His knowledge of fish culture will be of advantage to him and no doubt he will see that the laws are strictly enforced. Illegal fishing will be severely punished if his efforts can make it so, in fact, he has authorized us to say for him that all who indulge in illegal fishing will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Visited at Laird Curtin's Cabin.

John Munson, Randolph Hoy, Maurice Jackson, Hugh Crider and Robert Valentine returned home Monday from a visit to Laird Curtin's cabin situated near Curtin Station. This is one of the most beautiful spots one could wish to visit. The cabin stands on a cliff overlooking the beautiful Bald Eagle Valley and the creek which flows at the foot. There is a lake with several boats on it and the young men enjoyed the boating and fishing which is really fine at this place.

JOHN HAMPTON'S BARREL...

By CYRUS DERICKSON

Copyright, 1902, by T. C. McClure

History will some day do justice to John Hampton and his barrel. Two or three different persons have gone over Niagara falls in a barrel and claimed to be the sole and only originator of the idea, but the fact is incontestible that John Hampton had his barrel prepared twenty years before the country heard of it from any other source. If he did not go over the falls amid the cheers of a vast crowd and bob around in the whirlpool until drawn ashore it was because he had other and more agreeable business on hand.

John Hampton was an old bachelor, living on a farm just outside of the village of Orian, when the Widow Davis came to live on the farm adjoining. He did not fall in love with her at first sight. The feeling came slowly and gradually, like an old shed getting ready to fall down. As a neighbor he had lent and borrowed a hundred times, and as a neighbor he had dropped in and talked over farm matters two or three times a week for six months before it dawned upon him that he was in love. If John had fallen in love with a girl he would have proceeded in the orthodox fashion, but as the person was a widow and as he had read that the way to capture a widow was to strike straight from the shoulder, within thirty-six hours he appeared before her and bluntly said:

"ROLL THAT BARREL UNDER THE WAGON SHED," SAID THE WIDOW.

"Widder, I love you. Will you marry me?"

"No, sir; I won't!" was the equally blunt reply. Then John realized that the straight from the shoulder business was a fraud and a delusion. He took up his hat and walked off. Under the circumstances the widow could excuse him for taking a short cut across the garden and trampling over her cucumbers and uprooting her onions.

It was a week before he could yell at his oxen in his usual enthusiastic way. Then he woke up to the fact that he still lived and loved and that there was hope for him if he worked things right. It was a lightning rod man who finally gave him the tip.

"Never try to rush a widder," was the sage advice given him by the man of thunderstorms. "A widder can neither be rushed like you'd buy a cow nor courted as if she were a love sick girl. You've got to get her sympathy first."

Three days later the news reached the Widow Davis that John was in bed as the result of an interview with a wandering bull. The bull hadn't quite killed him, but he was unconscious and using her name at intervals of two or three minutes. The widow sent him a freshly killed chicken and a tumbler of currant jelly and hoped he would soon recover. John chuckled as he realized that he had made a fair start on the new programme. At the end of a week he limped over to receive her sympathies and congratulations, and the future looked rosy for him. Two weeks later he was in bed again. As told to the widow, he had slid off the roof of his barn and struck the earth with a thud that was heard for a mile around. He had cried out her name when falling, and her name was the first word to pass his lips when he finally opened his eyes.

During the week John Hampton was in bed he was the recipient of several messages of condolence and several dishes prepared by the widow's own hands, and when he got out again he figured that his chances had improved 50 per cent. Encouraged by this feeling, he limped over to the Widow Davis' and again asked for her hand and heart, but again he was turned down. She was sorry for him, and she hoped he would find some one to love him, but she felt that the best she could do was to be a sister to him. It wasn't a lightning rod man, but a sewing machine agent, to whom John Hampton turned for advice on this second occasion, and he couldn't have done better.

"Why, it's as easy as rolling off a log," replied the man when the facts were in his possession.

During the next four days the Widow Davis heard various reports concerning the man for whom she had a sisterly affection. He looked and acted strangely, and his friends feared suicide; he had given an order to the village cooper for a big barrel and would not explain its intended use.

One day things came to a climax. John Hampton drove up to the widow's house with his barrel in the wagon. It was an overgrown, swell front barrel—a barrel big enough to furnish shelter to a yearling calf. The staves had been painted blue and the heads red, and it looked as if it had just escaped from a circus. The widow glanced from the barrel to John and paled a little. If the barrel looked "circusy" John looked desperate, and she realized that the two were connected in some desperate enterprise.

"Widder Davis," began the man as he looked straight into her eyes, "my love has been rejected. There is nothing left for me but death and I am going to die like a man."

"I—I wouldn't," she replied as she looked at the barrel and wondered what part it was to play in the tragedy.

"But I will. I am going to Niagara Falls. When I get there I am going to be barreled up and sent over the falls to my death. There will be thousands to ask why I want to die. When I enter that barrel your name shall be on my lips. I shall remember the custard pie, the currant jelly, the spring chicken and the rice pudding, and bless you for your kindness. May I hope that you will think of me when I am floating around?"

John had repeated this little speech a hundred times over during the last two days, and he got it off without a break. It touched the widow's heart, just as the sewing machine agent said it would. She blushed and looked this way and that and finally said:

"I was wanting a vinegar barrel this fall and meant to ask you to get me one next time you went to town."

"A dead man can't be hunting up vinegar barrels."

"But a live one can," replied the widow with a smile. "I think, John—I think"—

"What do you think, Lucy?"

"I think you'd better roll that barrel under the wagon shed and leave it here. I like the color of it and I'm sure it will hold vinegar enough to last us two or three years."

"Us!" exclaimed John as he clambered out of the wagon.

"Did I say us? Well, we'll have to let it go at that. As I was saying, it's a very nice barrel, and when I think of it going over Niagara falls to be all smashed up and lost, of course"—

"Why, of course," said the sewing machine man when he came that way again.

Pleased at It.

"The fools are not all dead yet," said the angry husband.

"I'm glad of it, dear," calmly replied the other half of the combination. "I never did look well in black."—Chicago News.

Old Pewter.

The rage for old things includes almost everything that can be thought of, from old paintings down to old laces and jewelry that are worn by the women fortunate enough to possess them. One of the things most sought after by women who follow the fads of the moment is pewter. Shopkeepers who deal in antiques have found it advisable to keep a large supply on hand, as the demand is constantly increasing. Old pewter is especially adapted for use in the country home or in the den of the town house. Or, better still, a breakfast room fitted up in old Dutch style or colonial style is just the place for it. The soft polish seems so much more suitable for these places than does the richly chased silverware. An old pewter bowl filled with crimson blossoms will make an attractive centerpiece for the dining table or for a stand in the house. There is no limit to the articles made of pewter. Trays, dishes, tea and coffee pots, incense and flower holders, rose leaf jars and even jewel cases are to be had in the pretty metal.

A Pretty Workbasket.

A pretty little workbasket is made of stiff cardboard cut out in four sections, each one about six inches high and five broad at the top, slanting to a width of three and a half inches at the base. Ribbons at the top and bottom of each section fasten them together in form somewhat like a tall strawberry box. These sections are covered with ecru crash, and on the outside of one is attached a needle pad covered with a flap of canvas. Another side of this little basket carries a tomato pincushion made of silk. A third is decorated with two little emeries in the form of strawberries, and the last section has a pocket fastened on it in which to keep buttons, spool cotton, braid, etc. This leaves the inside of the box free for any small piece of sewing or article requiring mending.

SAVED THE BANK.

Coolness of a Director Prevented a Threatened Crash

The recent failure of the Doylestown National Bank for more than its capital stock and the subsequent revelations which have showed the financial world in staid old Bucks County, recalls to mind the narrow escape of the National Bank of Dover some years ago which would have gone to the wall, but for the timely assistance of a cool-headed director. As in the case of the Bucks county Bank the diminution of the funds of the Dover Bank was immediately traced to wild cat transactions in the stock market. Fortunately for the last named institution, however, it had for one of its directors a man with sufficient courage, wisdom and capital to steer the vessel out of the breakers of a storm-tossed financial sea and land it high and dry in the harbor of commercial success and prosperity. Briefly the history of the Dover Bank is this.

Prosperity had marked the course of the institution from its inception. It was founded in the Delaware capital and in the midst of a large territory in which were many wealthy fruit growers and larger business interests. It was capitalized at $100,000, there being 1,000 shares at a par value of $100. Through periods of prosperity the stock rose to more than half its par value suntil it could not be bought on the market for less than $165 per share. It had for its president one John H. Bateman, a political friend of J. Edward Addicks, but W. N. Boggs, was the cashier and real business head. Boggs was the dispureing agent of the Addicks campaign fund and the bank was to some extent, political headquarters for the Addicks party.

Addicks pretended great interest in the young cashier and it was this manifestation of interest that ultimately resulted in the young man's undoing. It was at the time that Bay State Gas, that nightmare of stock speculators, was attracting most attention. Addicks whispered to the young man that the stock was a purchase; that it was time to get his friends aboard the craft. Boggs was weak enough to believe the wily millionaire Senatorial Claimant. He bought extravagantly of the stock and so did his friends. Then it began to drop. It kept on dropping and by the time it had finished the bottom had dropped out of the Dover Bank. It sustained a loss of $107,000, or seven thousand more than the capital stock.

It was on Friday afternoon that Boggs kissed his wife and babies good bye and took a northbound train on the Delaware Railroad ostensibly for Philadelphia. His real mission, as later developed, was the interior of South America. The following day his flight was discovered and the shortage in the accounts was discovered. The bank closed at noon. It was then too late for a run. The news of the defalcation first appeared in Sunday's papers and created a sensation in lower Delaware. The depositors of the bank were alarmed. They realized that their savings were in eminent peril if not entirely swept away. Their mutterings were heard on every hand.

One of the directors of the ill-fated bank coolly sat on the veranda of his Dover residence and discussed the situation with the writer of this narrative. He showed not the least trace of mental or physical excitement, although he realized full well that unless some one at once came to the banks relief it could not open its doors Monday morning. It is true that Harry A. Richardson was financially able to render the necessary assistance, being the principal owner of the Richard & Robbins cannery and possessing other investments representing a million dollars or more, yet his holdings of bank stock were merely nominal, a paltry ten shares standing on the books in his name. The wrecking of the bank would have meant but a small loss to the wealthy canner.

In spite of this he did not shirk the responsibility. He realized that it was in his power to save it, that it would result in the expenditure of considerable sum of money, and besides occupy valuable time which could easily be devoted to other business. The question in his mind however, was, whether or not it was his duty to save the bank. He decided that it was.

When the bank opened Monday morning there was a line of depositors extending far out into the street, all clamoring for their money. Mr. Richardson's first act was to deposit a draft on Drexel & Co., for $60,000. He then addressed the waiting throng of fruit growers and others, requesting them not to withdraw their deposits. He stated that while he was but a minority holder of stock, he did not wan't to see the institution go to the wall, and was willing to save it if he had to pledge his entire private fortune to do so. At this moment, James P. Winchester, president of the First National Bank of Wilmington, stepped up to the receiving teller's Window and deposited $1,800 in bank notes. The coolness of Mr. Richardson and his friend, had the desired effect. The depositors lingered around the bank for awhile, but soon went away satisfied with the situation. To-day the stock has almost recovered its old selling price and there is no more substantial banking institution in lower Delaware.

How the cashier was brought back from South American, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the Federal prison, along with confereates in the crime, and how a United States senator was indicted for complicity in the case but subsequently released, has been told before. Suffice it to say that the bank was saved by the cool daring of one man and the community relieved of the stress of financial ruin.

DEWITT IS THE NAME.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by Greens' Pharmacy.

Horse Commits Suicide.

Last week James S. Weaver, of Aaronsburg, drove to the mountains east of Woodward to gather huckleberries. When he arrived at the place he started for, he unhitched his horses and tied them to trees, and seeing that everything was safe around the wagon started out for berries. After being away from the team for several hours, he thought it best to return and see how his horses were getting along. Imagine his surprise and consternation when he arrived there to see one of the horses hanging by the halter to a tree as dead as the veritable "door nail." There is no doubt that the poor animal being driven to frenzy by the swarm of gnats and flies became tired of life and concluded to end it all by committing suicide.

POTENT PILL PLEASURE.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot of Albany, Ga., says "During a bilous attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Fifty-Four Times Around The World.

James C. Waddle, who last week resigned from the service of the Pennsylvania railroad and has been enrolled on the pension list, could have journeyed more than 54 times around the world had he traveled straight ahead instead of going to and from Tyrone during his 42 years of service as a freight conductor. Mr. Waddle's railroad service began on the Snow Shoe branch, where he served two years. After traveling in his train as conductor more than a million miles and with almost 42 years of faithful service to his credit he has settled down in his cozy home on Bellefonte avenue to live the remainder of his days quietly in Lock Haven.

He Sold a Deer.

J. L. McNitt, of Milroy, was convicted last Monday for selling a deer to a party of hunters. The purchasers were from Coatsville. McNitt claims that the deer had been run by dogs and was played out, he then caught it and sold it to these hunters. He further says that he will pay $25 but not the $100 fine imposed by the magistrate. He has made an appeal to the county court. The deer cost the hunters $125 and they had paid $25 for it and were fined $100.

Mother's Girl.

There exists often a very beautiful companionship between the mother and her daughter. The intimacy is frank, free and sympathetic. But some day the mother feels as if something had chilled this intimacy. The child is silent and sad, and seems to shun her mother instead of seeking her.

This change very often occurs when the young girl is crossing the border line of womanhood. She is morbid, nervous, fearful, as she enters upon this new experience.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at such a time will do more than restore the normal balance of mind and body. It will establish the womanly function upon a basis of sound health, as well as improve the appetite, nourish the nerves, and promote the general physical health.

"Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead, Green Co., Wis. "Everything that could be thought of was done to help her but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170—the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen; then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. I felt I could not give her up as she was the only child I had, and I must say, Doctor, that only for your 'Favorite Prescription' my daughter would have been in her grave today. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

TO SNUFF VOLCANOES.

Startling Discovery Made by An Australian.

Volcanoes can easily be extinguished, says the New York Herald. A New Zealand man claims (and there are many who agree with him) to have discovered a liquid by means of which volcanoes may be extinguished quickly whether active or threatening.

Many diseases of the human body act in the same manner as volcanoes. Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Disorders, Female Diseases and many others all begin with a slight rumble of pain and distress, and if not treated in time will burst forth in all their fury, causing all who are so afflicted the most intense suffering and making life a complete burden.

That a liquid has been discovered that will extinguish these volcanic eruptions of disease, whether active or threatening, is not only certain but a material fact.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY is this liquid discovery. THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE powers of this famous remedy have cut a new path through the field of medicine, sweeping with it a startling record of tremendous success.

"Drummer Boy of Shiloh."

One of the prettiest war dramas ever produced in Bellefonte was the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" which was put on the stage by some of our best local talent a few years ago. The play was not only a great success in itself, but financially as well. It was so well played and appreciated the first night, that the performers were persuaded to repeat the performance for four nights. This beautiful war drama will be reproduced sometime during the early fall, by the members of Company B, 5th Regt. assisted by others of the towns best talent. The receipts of the play will be divided equally between the Bellefonte Hospital association and the company B. organization.

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and development. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Greens' Pharmacy.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Mischter Druder!—Deß Friehjohr hab ich ah en Rohschen kriegt for in die Hinkelbisnis zu gehne. Ich hab gedenkt, es mißt arg schee sei, wann mer alle Dag frische Oier hawe kennt, un wann erscht die Zeit kämt for die junge Hahne zu schlachte, dann wär sell besser as wie en Picknick. Ich hab awer ausgefunne, daß deß Ding sei Mucke hot. Die erscht Gluck, as ich gesetzt hab, is am zehnte Dag vun die Oier ab un hot sich wieder mit em Hahne bekannt gemacht. Do ware schun emol dreizehe Oier verdorwe. Die zweet hot aus d'r ganze Setting juscht vier junge Hinkelcher rauskriegt un selle sen mir schun in d'r erschte Nacht vun die Ratte gefresse worre. En Woch später sen zwee Glucke uf eemol Mitter worre un jede hot zwelf Junge g'hat. Well, denk ich, deß is emol en diesenter Start. Awer ich hab mei Rechning ohne die verdollte Katze gemacht. In drei Dag ware vun die vierunzwanzig Hinkelcher noch sechs iwrig, un alleweil is juscht noch eens do. Deß hot mich so verzernt, daß ich zwee annere Glucke, was noch am Briehe ware, vum Nest gelidt un die Oier verschlage hab. So kennt Ihr sehne, daß mei Aussichte for Springhinkel in d'r Dreck gefalle sen. Es scheint, es muß ewe Alles gelernt un verstanne sei. En jedes Bisnis hot so zu sage sei eegene Tricks. Do is d'r Dscharlie, seller versteht deß Ding forstreht. Wann er en Gluck setzt mit dreizehe Oier, so brinot se nie weniger wie finfzehe Hinkelcher raus. Sell glahbt Ihr vielleicht net, awer es is doch so. D'r Dscharlie explehnt es deneweg, daß sei Glucke, wann er se setzt, allfort noch en bar Oier lege, eb se anfange zu briehe. Dann wieder kann d'r Dscharlie vun hunnert Hinkel alle Dag hunnertfinfzig frischgelegte Oier verkahfe un er kriegt ah allfort en bar Sent meh for's Dutzed, as wie anner Leit—ewe weil die Oier frisch sen. Sei Springhinkel sen noch-mol so schwer, as wie anner Leit ihre un er macht en kleene Fortschen aus seiner Hinkel- un Oier-Bisnis. Sell war d'r Riesen, as ich ah hab welle selle Bisnis stärte; es scheint awer, ich bin zu dumm derzu. Alles muß ewe verstanne sei. Do denkt en Mancher, die Bauers-Erwet wär wol en bissel hart, awer es wär nix derbei zu lerne. Es is awer verdollt viel derbei, was gelernt sei muß.

Um awer die Wohret zu sage: so wie d'r Dscharlie die Bisnis antreibt, wot ich es net dhun un ich glahb, daß es juscht recht is, wann ich sei Sikrets verroth. Vun hunnert Hinkel kann er bischuhr net hunnertfinfzig Oier kriege. Sell is awer deneweg: Wann die Baure aus d'r Stadt heemfahre un an seim Blatz verbeikumme, dann frogt er: „Well, hen Ihr ausverkahft?" Hen se dann noch en bar Dutzed Oier iwrig, dann kahft er selle billig un kriegt am nächste Morge—ewe weil se frisch gelegt sen—ebaut zweemol so viel derfor, as wie er selwert bezahlt hot. Wie ich versteh, is er awer herzlich neigedappt. So lang des Wetter kieht war, is sell ganz schee gange; awer nau, wo die Baure in d'r Scheuer, im Stall un iwens im Bungert ganze Nester voll Oier finne, wo schun halb gebrieht sen, is d'r Dscharlie gefange worre. En Partie hot letschte Woch en Dutzed vun seine frischgelegte Oier kahft un in viere ware junge Hinkelcher. Dort braucht er for en Weil net meh hiezugehne. En annere Partie hot zwee Springhinkel vun ihm kahft, was zusamme nein Pund gewoge hen. Die junge Frah, was se gekahft hot, hot es uftohrs net besser verstanne, se hot awer ausgefunne, daß se so toff ware as wie Sohlleder. Es ware alte Leghornhinkel, as net meh gelegt hen un ihr nau ufgehängt worre sen for junge Hahne, zu finfunzwanzig Sent des Pund. Dort verkahft d'r Dscharlie so bal ah nix meh. Er hot sich nochderhand erkundigt, wie lang es wär Nacht gewest, wie er die Hinkel aus em Stall geholt hät, awer sell war zu verdollt dinn.

Verstanne, es war net mei Intenschen, sellerweg in die Hinkel- un Oier-Bisnis zu gehne, sundern juscht for mei eegener Juhs; awer ich bin nau iwerzeigt, daß ich nix dervun versteh un ich hab's drum ufgewe als en schlechter Dschab. Wann es awer wohr is, daß es dem Mensche gesund is, wann er sich allemol en bissel ärgert, dann hab ich nau enihau net nothwennig, en Friehjohrs-Medisen zu kahfe, bekohs ich hab Aerger genug gehat for mich gedichdich auszubutze. Wers net glahbt, der geh selwert in die Hinkelbisnis.

TWENTY-ONE KILLED!

Fatal Collision Between Two Sections Circus Train.

EIGHT CARS WERE WRECKED

In One of These Were Elephants and Camels and One of the Former and Two of the Latter Were Killed—Other Animals Escaped.

HORRIFYING SCENES WITNESSED

DURDAN, Mich., August 8.—An airbrake on the second section of Wallace Brothers' circus train refused to work in the Grand Trunk Yards here yesterday, causing a collision between two sections in which 21 persons were killed and over a dozen injured.

The circus travels in two trains of about 35 cars each. After Thursday night's exhibition at Charlotte, the two trains left for Lapeer over the Grand Trunk road, the second section leaving a half hour after the first. It was 3:45 o'clock when the first section pulled into the west end of the Grand Trunk yards here. A red light was hung on the rear car to stop the second section.

Engineer Propst, of Battle Creek, who was running the engine of the rear train, says he saw this light and applied the air-brake, but to his horror it refused to work. He reversed his engine, but the momentum of the heavy train behind him was too great, and with a crash that aroused all of the town near the yards the two trains met.

Three cars of the stationary first section were telescoped and the engine and five cars of the moving train were demolished. The rear car of the first section was a caboose in which the trainmen were sleeping, and the next two were filled with sleeping circus employes. The greatest loss of life was in the caboose.

One of the wrecked cars of the second section was occupied by five elephants and several camels. One of the elephants and two camels were killed outright, while the other animals and their trainer escaped. With the exception of this car, none of the menagerie was wrecked, the other demolished cars containing canvas or wagons, and there was comparatively little excitement among the wild animals.

As soon as they recovered from the first shock the trainers rushed among the cages, quieting the few beasts that were excited. The elephants in the wrecked car behaved with surprising calmness and were led out of the wreck without trouble

The escaping steam and screams and cries of those pinned in the wreck made a horrifying spectacle in the gray of the early morning, when the trainmen in the yards and the aroused townspeople first reached the scene. Many feared at first that some of the menagerie had escaped, as some of the animals could be heard crying. The fire whistle was immediately sounded and the whole town was aroused.

The rescuers could see unfortunates through the tangled wreckage and went furiously to work, without waiting for tools, to extricate them. A wrecking crew is kept in the yards here and it was on the scene in a very few minutes, bringing tools and equipment in plenty.

All physicians and trained nurses in town were sent for and those in nearby places were rushed to the scene on hand cars. The Hotel Richelieu was converted into a temporary hospital and scores of volunteers with stretchers were in readiness to carry the injured there as fast as the rescuers could extricate them. The dead, many of them so terribly mangled that identification seemed well nigh impossible, were carefully laid on the greensward a short distance from the scene.

By 6 o'clock a corps of twelve physicians were operating on the injured and dressing their wounds in the temporary hospital. Four of the injured died at the hospital before 8 o'clock. When the wrecking train crews had finished pulling to pieces the tangled and broken cars, seventeen dead men were lying on the grass awaiting removal to the morgue. A majority of them had been killed while asleep.

The circus performers were on the rear of the moving train and escaped injury. Wallace Brothers say that their loss will be very heavy, but have given no estimate of it as yet. This is the second wreck that the Wallace shows have suffered within a month.

Engineer Propst, Fireman Colter and Head Brakeman Benedict, who was also on the engine, of the second section, all agree that if the brakes had worked as they ought to have when the engineer tried to use them there would have been no collision.

—Several hundred people attended the Reformed picnic at Hecla Park Friday. The weather was fine and all had a good time.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW,
Press Correspondent New York State Grange

THE GRANGE IN THE SOUTH

The Problem of Improving the Condition of the Southern Farmer.

With the exception of South Carolina, my own state of West Virginia is as far south as any state that has continued to hold its place in the national grange. I know something of what it has cost to hold my state in line and am acquainted with the influences and causes that produced dormancy south of Mason and Dixon's line and the Ohio river. It would profit little to relate those causes. Grange history recites that the conception of the Order originated in the mind of Brother O. H. Kelley while on a visit to the southern states soon after the great civil war and because he saw the need of a fraternal organization that would bind the southern planters together and help build up their shattered fortunes. Those southern planters needed the grange then, and they need it now even more than then. I have never lost faith that the grange would again become strong among the southern farmers, and I am firmly of the opinion that if the proper effort were made many, if not all, of the southern states could be brought into the grange sisterhood of states. How to do it is the problem, and it does not seem to me to be impossible of solution.

The work must be done by southern men who are able and willing to be sacrificed for a great humanitarian principle—men above reproach, capable of being leaders of the southern farmers in every effort to develop southern institutions and without personal political ambition. Such men exist in every state, and the problem of reorganizing the grange in the south will solve itself if such men are quietly found and induced to interest themselves in the grange cause. How this is to be done and who is to do it I leave for some one else to determine. Every true Patron in the country would gladly welcome our southern farmers into the grange brotherhood.

T. C. ATKESON,
Master West Virginia State Grange.

The rarest of flowers is candor.—Racine.

One golden day redeems a weary year.—Celia Thaxter.

Common sense is instinct, and enough of it is genius.—H. W. Shaw.

The misfortunes that are hardest to bear are those that never happen.—Lowell.

The highest exercise of charity is charity toward the uncharitable.—Buckminster.

He who believes in nobody knows that he himself is not to be trusted.—Auerbach.

Superiority to circumstances is one of the most prominent characteristics of great men.—Horace Mann.

Self laudation abounds among the unpolished, but nothing can stamp a man more sharply as ill bred.—Buxton.

Cheerfulness is like money well expended in charity—the more we dispense of it the greater our possession.—Victor Hugo.

Open to Persuasion.

"Is your husband a strong willed man?" asked Mrs. Sampson of her neighbor, Mrs. Towne. After a moment's reflection Mrs. Towne replied:

"I don't know," she said dubiously. "I always thought he was, but the other day he went into a department store to get a new rug for the sitting room because he said he wouldn't go another day with our old shabby one.

"He happened to get off on the wrong floor, and he came home with four newfangled flatirons and a porcelain kettle and no sign of a rug. So you see I don't quite know what to say about him since then.

"All he told me was that you never knew just what you needed till you saw it right before you."—Youth's Companion.

Hackneys and Dachshunds.

Hackneys of skyscraping knee action are to some extent freaks in horseflesh of little more real value to mankind than dachshunds, the sawed off dwarfs among dogs. The little child who said of this ridiculous splayfooted, bowlegged caricature of the canine race that it must have been born under a bureau hit the mark exactly. The nose smiting, cloud capping horses that try to throw their front legs over their ears at every stride are grotesque aberrations from sound and admirable types. They and the dachshunds should disappear together.—New York Tribune.

Municipal Aid.

"Well," remarked Miss Innocence, "the government may not believe in women taking the initiative in matters of love, but this city certainly does."

"I don't see how," replies Miss Antike, with more interest than might have been expected.

"It's plain as print. The city clerk is advertising in the newspapers for 'sealed proposals.'" replies Miss Innocence.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Following Custom.

"Whoop!" yelled the excited inebriate as he rushed into the hotel. "I'm a terror! I'm a man eater! I'm the biggest gun that ever hit the pike! Wow!"

"It's customary," remarked the bouncer as he gazed at the subsequent wreck outside, "when a gun is loaded to fire it."—Baltimore News.

A High Diver.

A guest at Runkle's hotel, Centre Hall a few nights ago, who was shown up into the garret for his night's lodging, and wanting fresh air from the garret window, on attempting to open it, the sash and boxing went out, and the lodger with it, two-and-half stories above terra firma—he landed kerthump on the cellar door below, the trip taking perhaps a second with no halfway house to stop at. He was found the next morn rolling around in the yard stunned, jarred and somewhat bruised and sore from the high speed and sudden landing, but, wonderful to tell, no bones broken.

—Foley's Kidney Cure is a medicine free from poisons and will cure any case of kidney disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine. C. M. Parrish.

—Both branches of the Williamsport council have passed the curfew ordinance which is now up to the mayor for his approval. It prohibits children under 16 years of age, unaccompanied, to be on the streets after 9 o'clock p. m.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE.

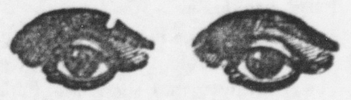
Will cure Kidney and Bladder Diseases
C. M. Parrish.

Garman House Improvements.

Some extensive improvements for an entire alteration of the first floor of the Garman House will be made. The office will be changed to the former parlor which will allow for a larger reading room and toilet department. The bar will be changed to the present office which will give a side room in connection. The ladies parlor will be moved to second floor. With these alterations there will be new paper, painting, and some new furniture. This change will be a great improvement.

PROF. J. ANGEL



Eye Specialist!

of Williamsport, will make his monthly visit here for

ONE DAY,

Wednesday,

AUGUST 26th, 1903

from 8 a.m. to 6 p. m., with headquarters in

The Brockerhoff House

Bellefonte, Pa.

Hundreds are going blind daily, from the need of the proper prescribed glasses and from delaying attention to the eyes from time to time. Nothing will destroy your eyesight quicker than cheap glasses or glasses not properly fitted to your eyes.

Prof. Angel, in the short time he has been visiting this section, has met with marked success. Scores of leading citizens of this community have found relief from his treatment. It is not necessary to travel to Eastern cities for treatment when you can consult an eminent oculist at home.

He will examine your eyes at your home, by appointment, without extra charge.

EDITORIAL.

We would respectfully recommend Mrs. Carrie Nation as camera-smasher in ordinary for Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. It would give her so much pleasure to ax for the negatives.

THE game of progessive matrimony now being played by the "smart set" of the New York-Newport contingent makes us thankful that our forebears were plain, stupid——and respectable.

THE principle of wireless telegraphy is not new, it was discovered by Hertz "years ago", as every student of modern physics knows." This, however, does not detract from Marconi's wonderful improvement."

KING EDWARD has been to Rome, called upon the Pope and the King and has left without hurting anyone's feelings. Evidently he absorbed large quantities of tact during the forty years he was sowing his wild oats.

A scientist has discovered that rattle snakes use their tails to decoy birds. They conceal themselves in the long grass and, with their rattles, imitate the buzzing of a bee. The bird comes down to investigate and is soon swallowed.

THOMAS WILSON, of Salt Lake City, Utah, met the President with a remarkable demonstration of his abhorrence of race suicide. He was accompanied by his sixteen sons, all the children of one mother and all over six feet tall. Mr. Wilson is not a Mormon.

EIGHTEEN hundred acres of land in Cullman county, Alabama, are about to be planted in Loblolly pine, chestnut and oak, the first for lumber, the second for posts and telegraph poles and the last for railroad ties. The plan pursued has been prepared by Government experts.

THE British Royal Statistical Society in a recent report, emphasizes the wide difference between the financial situation in England and the United States. While there is the utmost prosperity here, there "High taxation, undigested government loans and the high price of meat" operate as depressants.

THE Forestry Bureau of the Department of Agriculture has arranged to make a thorough investigation of forest fires with a view to devising a remedy. We wonder if the Bureau will have the courage to recommend the employment of rangers on the Government Reserves whose tenure of office depends upon the faithful performance of their duty, instead of the political influence, as is now the case.

HOW THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS UNITED.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser says that the Republican party is only united on offices and spoils, whereat the Pittsburg Dispatch responds as follows:

"So the Republicans are united on nothing but offices and spoils? Did not the Iowa State convention declare in favor of the excellent present tariff law? Have not the Republicans exposed and driven from office men alleged to have accepted bribes? Did not the Republicans give Cubans independence? Did not that party open mills and factories and give employment to millions of men made idle by the Gorman-Wilson tariff bill? Did not the Republicans place this country on a sound money basis? Did not a Republican administration notify Great Britain and Germany that the Monroe doctrine must be respected? Did not—Pshaw! Why continue? Offices and spoils, indeed! The Advertiser should know that a Republican administration is a business administration, and it also should know that Theodore Roosevelt will be elected president of the United States."

A NOVEL VIEW OF LABOR.

"Laboratory methods which consist in studying facts and drawing conclusions from them, can be applied to the question of labor organizations," said President Remsen, of Johns Hopkins University a few evening ago at, the graduating exercises of Amour Scientific Academy Chicago. His address was on the "laboratory in education," and was a strong plea for application of the scientific methods to the current problems.

"The present method of studying the labor problem is not scientific," he continued, "for the student starts out with a bias, whereas he should be on the jury. I find that heat in these discussions is always inversely proportionate to the knowledge of the disputants. It seems that there is to great a willingness on the part of the people to express an opinion on any subject regardless of what they know about it. This is a mark of deficient education. What we need today is more knowledge, and the only way to get it, is by investigation of the facts as they exist.

AN UNPARALLELED OFFER!

In order to introduce the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN into the homes of Centre county citizens where it is not already a welcome visitor, the publisher has determined to make the following offer:

We will send the REPUBLICAN on trial to any address in Centre county from now until December 1, 1903, for 25 cents. As anyone can readily see, this does not more than cover the cost of the white paper, and our only hope of reward is that you will become regular readers of the REPUBLICAN in the future.

Each week a sheet of music is given away free worth at least ten cents.

We publish more local news than any other paper in Centre county and have a correspondent in almost every town.

There is a column devoted to the Grange and a Pennsylvania German letter each week, and also a short story.

Sent on trial five (5) months for 25 cents, or one year $1.00; 52 dividends on the dollar invested.

Sensational Episode at Clearfield.

Esther Murphy, a pretty waiter at the Allegheny House, Clearfield, was shot and dangerously wounded by a young man named Wainwright, of Benzette, Elk county, in the lobby of the hotel Sunday morning.

Wainwright carried an insulting note to the girl Saturday, it is alleged, and she struck him. He was ordered from the house, but returned Sunday morning and awaited an opportunity to see the girl.

After shooting Miss Murphy Wainwright escaped through the front door, closely pursued by a crowd of men. He was captured after a spirited and exciting chase and taken to jail.

Miss Murphy's home is at Philipsburg. Hopes are entertained for her recovery.

—The Coleville band received their $50 prize money Wednesday which they won at Clearfield last Friday. Scott Lose, a member of the band, allowed ye editor to gaze upon the long green Wednesday morning. He doubtless knew that the weary scribe seldom gets to see that much money all at one time.

—The Zion band will furnish music at the Methodist picnic, which takes place at Hecla Park on Friday. Every indication points to a large crowd in attendance on that day.

—A Blair county couple has smashed all previous records for martial infelicity, viz: Married on July 13, husband deserted the wife of July 15, and August 10 a subpoena in divorce was awarded by the court.

—All trains on the Bald Eagle Division of the P. R. R. except the flyer at noon will stop at Miles' Grove east of Port Matilda on Saturday August 22nd for those desiring to attend the William's Family Re-union. This re-union promises to be greater and better than ever this year.

—Godall & Levi's minstrel show which has been playing on the Glass Work's meadow have certainly had a run of hard luck. They not only played to poor business but during the storm Tuesday afternoon their tent blew down and considerable damage was done. They were unable to give a performance Tuesday and today left for Lock Haven where it is hoped they will have better luck.

—Miss Lulu Harper entertained a party of friends at euchre at Hecla Park Tuesday afternoon. There were twenty-four guests in attendance. Prizes were awarded the lucky players. Miss Charlotte Mackey, of Philadelphia, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison Walker won the first prize and Mrs. Sheffer of Lewisburg, who is visiting the Harper's took second honors. A delightful chicken and waffle supper was served the guests at Workman's boarding house.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Eighty-Four Bodies Recovered from Railroad Wreck.

TOTAL DEATHS MAY EXCEED 100

It Was in the City of Paris That This Latest of Big Calamities Occurred Monday Night.

VICTIMS WERE SUFFOCATED

PARIS, August 12.—Eighty-four bodies have been recovered and the death list probably will exceed 100 in the underground railway disaster here Monday night. Most of the victims are from the middle and working classes, as the trains were carrying them home from their work.

The main facts which have been established as to the cause of the horror are the following: Train No. 43, which caused the accident, came from Porte Dauphine, at the entrance to the Bois de Boulogne, in the western part of Paris, and, passing under the Place de L'Etoile, circled the northerly part of the city. In this northern quarter, a manufacturing section, the train picked up numbers of workmen, who, after their day's work, were returning to their homes in the populous eastern arrondissements of the city.

On reaching the neighborhood of the cemetery of Pere La Chaise, the electrical motor failed to act properly and the train waited at the station of Les Charones until the arrival of a second train, which pushed the crippled train forward, making a total of sixteen coaches.

After proceeding about 200 yard towards Menilmontant Station the damaged dynamo set fire to the engine of the first train. The fire burned fiercely, raising quantities of smoke. Simultaneously the electric lights on the train went out, leaving the passengers in total darkness except for the light of the burning engine far ahead. This impeded the progress of the trains toward Menilmontant. Twenty cars was consumed.

Although the accident occurred at 8 o'clock Monday evening the officials and firemen were unable until early Tuesday morning to descend into the tunnel, owing to the blinding clouds of smoke from the burning train. Frequent attempts were made by heroic volunteers, whom it was necessary to rescue, half suffocated, and carry away to the hospital.

At 3.10 a. m. Sergeant Ahrons, wearing a respirator, succeeded in making the descent. He remained seven minutes and brought the first information to the effect that corpses were strewn all about the roadway of the tunnel. Then he collapsed and was taken to the hospital. Twenty minutes later, firemen forced their way down through the tunnel station at Menilmontant and returned soon afterward with seven bodies—two men two young boys and three women. These persons had been asphyxiated, as their positions showed they had been groping through the smoke that filled the tunnel, seeking a way to escape, when they were overcome.

The work of gathering up bodies went on steadily after that under the personal direction of Prefect of Police Lepine, who summoned a large reserve force to hold back the surging crowd, including the relatives of the victims. Long lines of ambulances were brought into requisition and the bodies were carried to the morgue and the nearby military barracks.

After daylight the crowds at the entrance to the tunnel increased to enormous proportions, obliging the police to form a solid cordon, through which were admitted only those seeking to identify their relatives among the victims. The fanure of many men, women and children to returned during the night gave many the first news of the catastrophe. Fathers and mothers came hurrying to the mouth of the tunnel to try and find the absent ones.

At the second descent the firemen found a great number of bodies massed near the ticket office of the station, where many had evidently been overcome while seeking tickets. They had been surprised by the columns of smoke and had sought to run back up the stone stairway leading to the street. A struggle had ensued and some escaped, but others had been trampled on.

M. Lepine summoned a large force of doctors and municipal officials, who superintended the removal of the bodies. The number of corpses brought up from the angle where the mass was wedged was so large that four and eight bodies were placed in each ambulance.

—Rev. Robert Guthrie Freeman, of Erie, Pa., will deliver his famous lecture "The Jew, A man with a Record" in the United Brethren church on Tuesday evening, Aug. 25, 1903. A small admittance will be charged proceeds to be used for benevolent purposes. Come and hear him.

—Emerson Kippi, residing near Saladasburg, is in a serious condition as a result of blood poison. In an altercation with a companion, Kippi had his finger bitten, the bone being fractured. He neglected to have the wound dressed and now he'll be lucky if he gets off minus an arm.

MRS. ELIZABETH S. GARBRICK.

Wife of Amos Garbrick Died Friday Morning at Coleville.

The angel of death entered the Garbrick home at Coleville Friday morning and took hence the spirit of a kind and loving wife and mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stover Garbrick, wife of Amos Garbrick. The exact hour of her demise was 1:30 o'clock Her death was due to dropsy complicated with various other diseases. She had been ill twenty weeks.

The deceased was born in Penns Valley near Spring Mills and was 68 years old on the 12th of last December. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Stover and she was the daughter of Michael Stover. She was married to Amos Garbrick, who survives her with one daughter, Mrs. Snyder Tate.

She also leaves three brothers and one sister as follows: Michael, of Philipsburg; Uriah, of Houserville; Solomon, of Minnesota Lake, Minnesota; Miss Annie Stover, of Jefferson county.

Mrs. Garbrick was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She was a consistent member of the Lutheran church.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house. Rev. H. C. Holloway D. D., officiating. Interment in the Union cemetery.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

One of Philipsburg's Most Esteemed Ladies Killed Monday Morning.

Mrs. Charles Long, of Philipsburg, met her death very suddenly Monday morning by being struck near town by the train due at Philipsburg at 9:40.

It appears that her husband, Charles Long, works out about Graham, and his good wife was taking his dinner out to him, and being very deaf failed to hear the train and she was struck by the same. A wagon was near the place and she was taken to the Cottage hospital but was dead before she reached the same.

Mrs. Long was one of our most esteemed and highly respected citizens and leaves an aged husband and several children to mourn their loss. This indeed is a sad affair, to be taken off so suddenly, as she was in her usual health when she left home. Her relatives and friends have the deepest sympathy of the community.—Philipsburg Journal.

Predicament of a Mother and Six Little Children in a Strange City.

Several nights ago the proprietor of a Williamsport hotel found a mother and six small children sitting at the front entrance of his hotel at a late hour. The former related a pitiful story, which touched the many tender cords which vibrated in the landlord's heart. The Evening News says:

"They were from Renovo and had arrived in town during the afternoon, accompanied by the husband and father, shortly after which the latter had left them and hadn't been seen since. His whereabouts were unknown, and they had no money with which to secure shelter for the night. They had come to Williamsport to reside and their household goods were at the freight station.

To make a long story short, the landlord took them into the house, gave them supper and kept them as his guests until Sunday morning. Then finding his house too much crowded to entertain them longer, he gave them a $5 bill and sent them to another hotel, informing the wife and mother at the same time that if she would come back on Monday he would let her have sufficient money to lift her goods at the freight station. Wednesday morning the woman called, and the landlord made good his promise. She has rented a house and will soon move into it.

What of the husband and father?

Well, he turned up late Monday night. Had been off on a drunk, and spent all the money he had for "booze," while the family was left to the charitably disposed.

Sugar Valley Bear Story.

On Saturday while Chester Schwenck, a Sugar Valley farmer, was in the White Deer creek region after huckle-berries he had a great battle with a bear Mr. Schwenck happened upon three bears, and, presuming the mother bear was not within hearing distance, decided to capture all of the young ones. He accordingly took the little bears in his arms and started off with them, but had gone but a short distance when the cubs set up a terrible crying. This brought the mother bear in hot haste to the rescue of the little ones.

Mr. Schwenck dropped the cubs and defended himself as best he could against the old bear. After a hard fight in which clubs and stones were his weapons, he succeeded in escaping alive, but without the cubs.

Hand Mangled in Thresher.

The Lock Haven Express says that Charles Frazier, the farmer on J. C. Kryder's farm at Cedar Run, Nittany valley, met with a serious accident Wednesday afternoon while operating a threshing machine. He was feeding the grain into the thresher and when it became choked he reached his left hand in to clear it. His hand was caught by the spikes of the swiftly revolving cylinder and severely mangled. The two small fingers and perhaps a portion of the hand may have to be amputated.

The Houser Springless Lock Factory's Exit.

A few years ago an industry started in Bellefonte that bid fair to revolutionize the lock business and drive all other locks out of business. It was the Houser Springless lock and was the patent of Scott Houser, formerly of Coleville but now of DuBois. The lock had merit beyond doubt but some how it could never be placed on the market to advantage. The Houser Springless Lock Company was organized by local capital and a factory for the manufacture of locks was built and equiped with the proper machinery near the Lingle foundry.

The factory flourished for awhile but financial difficulties overtook them and they succumbed to the inevitable.

The factory was later conducted by Hogarth & Hoffman as a boiler works but on the retirement of Mr. Hoffman and the death of William Hogarth, this also was abandoned.

And now comes the end of our little story for on Tuesday Louis Rosenthal, the well known junk dealer of Bloomsburg, Pa., purchased the machinery and the factory will be dismantled and sold as old iron. Thus ends what was hoped to be a prominent industry that would in time give employment to hundreds of people in Bellefonte.

Grangers at Williams Grove.

The 30th Annual Great Grangers' Picnic Exhibition will be held at Williams' Grove the week beginning August 24th. The Exhibition of Farm Machinery will surpass that of any former years, and undoubtly will be the greatest ever held in the Eastern States. The beauty of the exhibit will be that so much of it will be running. Five saw mills, two shingle mills, at least 15 traction engines and threshers, four road crushers, together with numerous fodder cutters and other small machinery will make the grand old Grove a hive of industry. A splendid stock exhibit is promised.

During the week the platform of the large Auditorium, which seats 2,500 people, will be occupied by prominent Grangers, Agriculturists, Educators and Politicians.

The evening entertainments will consist of concerts and illustrated lectures. On Thursday and Friday evenings, Frank R. Roberson, in illustrated lectures.

A special effort has been made to put on an up-to-date midway, embodying the best tented attractions obtainable. Nothing immoral or objectionable will be tolerated, and any woman or child can attend any show on the ground without fear of being offended.

No admission fee to the grounds, and reduced rates on all railroads. For rates, consult your ticket agent.

BROOM STOCK BOOMS

From the facts presented you will understand why stock of the International Broom Company, Manufacturers of the Twentieth Century Broom, is a gilt-edged investment, and why it is regarded as such by all who will not put their money into any enterprise unless they see great and speedy profits ahead. Owing to the quick growth and great progress of the International Broom Company the stock has been advanced to

60 CENTS A SHARE.

We would advise intending investors to avail themselves of this low price and purchase before another raise. With the various applications for sub-companies now in hand, there is no doubt that about the latter part of August the price will be advanced to

75 CENTS A SHARE.

The high place The New Broom gained in public favor is due to the Company's ability to produce solid proof of every statement.

Contract closed for sub-company in Chicago with largest broom manufacturer in the United States.

Contract closed for sub-company in New Haven, Conn.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in Kansas City.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in Fall River, Mass.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in City of Mexico.

Sub-Company now manufacturing the New Broom in Ottawa, Ont.

All on royalties to the parent company—The Ottawa Company alone will pay the International Broom Company about $25,000 a year in royalties.

20 Other Applications for Sub-Companies Now Pending.

WE ASSERT AND CAN PROVE

That the demand for The New Broom is as wide as the civilized world.

That it is the only sanitary broom made.

That the Brooklyn factory made in April, 1903, twice as many brooms as in March and four times as many as in February, and earned a profit of more than 25 per cent. over its operating expenses on its production.

That dealers, wholesale and retail, think so well of The New Broom that they are becoming stockholders in the Company.

If we could not prove all this, and more, we should not expect any careful and conservative investor to buy this stock.

As we are thoroughly familiar with the plans and projects of the Company and the possibilities of The New Broom we unhesitatingly declare that this stock should very soon pay a dividend in the par value and rapidly advance until it sells for $2.00 or $3.00 per share.

It is, therefore, advisable that intending investors who wish to investigate this proposition do so at an early date before the next advance in price is announced. Those who subscribe now will be benefited by the increase.

Intending investors can obtain full particulars and ample proof of the claims of this Company on application at our office.

IN MEMORIAN

John W. Beckwith took his bed with typhoid fever on the 27th of July; he made his will on the 30 day and on Sunday August the 2 seemed to be better. Monday the 3 he said to his wife if he could just go to a big hole where the water was about 10 feet and take a bath he would get well as he had done one time when a boy 11 years old. When found he had swam under the bridge and there being a board walk across from one end of the bridge to the other, he could not get through without diving and he turned and climbed upon the stones next to the stonewall of the bridge his head and face was out of the water. He did not drowned, being unable to get out under the bridge, the fever had left him, and he died there holding himself out of the water. A. C. Williams, William Orwick and Squire Vinton Beckwith his brother took the deceased out from under the bridge. Undertaker Camp of Tyrone and the doctor said that there was no water in him, this proves without doubt he did not drowned. Inflammation had set in and he could not have lived over 24 hours longer at the best. The deceased was born January 22nd 1850, died August 4th 1903, age 53 years, 6 months and 12 days. Services were held in the M. E. church at Hannah by Revs. Gary, Dillen and Young, interment at Mt. Pleasant cemetery, he leaves a wife Christiana Beckwith, son John T. Beckwith and two daughters Mrs. Mary Ellen Price and Mary Florence Hoover and father Edward Beckwith and mother both 80 years old last month his brother Squire Vinton Beckwith of Taylor township and C. T. Beckwith of the same place. E. L. Beckwith, of Clearfield town and Joseph Beckwith of Patton he was a good and cheerful hearted man and will be missed by the community very much.

The writer of these items think it would not be out of place if the health officers should give Hannah a visit. The school Board of Taylor School district are taking action in regard to the filth that annoys the public in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlanda Weston of Pitcairn are visiting at the home of Mr. O's brother-in-law P. S. Richards near this place.

Eagleville House Destroyed by Fire.

The home of Mrs. Laura Snyder, at Eagleville, was destroyed by fire at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. It is supposed the origin of the fire was due to an exploding lamp.

The building was entirely destroyed but with the assistance of neighbors about $200 worth of furniture was saved. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The fire apparently started on the first floor and Mrs. Snyder and her two sons and daughter, William Marshall and Miss Vivien made a narrow escape. William jumped out of the second-story window and the others got out with difficulty, clad only in their night clothes.

The building containing the bakery and the barn were saved. The house and furniture are insured. In the house was the pay station of the Long Distance Bell Telephone. This was destroyed and communication with Eagleville is temporarily cut off.

The residence of John Stull, which stood only twelve feet from the burned building, was saved only by the heroic work of the bucket brigade. It was afire three times and was badly damaged. The house of Mrs. Singer on the left was also very much damaged, especially the interior by water. These properties are insured.

Only the calm, still night saved many properties from destruction. The ringing of the Disciple church bell awakened people for miles, and the bright light drew many to the scene. Mrs. Snyder and family are being cared for by friends.

Mistook Man for Groundhog.

Thaddeus Hall, a veteran of the Civil war, while out gathering blackberries near Brookville, Jefferson county, Monday afternoon, was mistaken for a groundhog through the bushes, owing to his heavy beard, by Wm. Carey, a hunter, who emptied the full charge of a shotgun into Hall's head and body, killing him almost instantly. Carey was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

—Sheriff Taylor has eight boarders in his castle.

—About 300 people attended the A. M. E. church picnic at Hecla Park on Thursday.

—Frank Naginey is having a hot water system placed in his new residence, on High street.

—Jas. B. Strohm, of Centre Hill, ex-county commissioner, is quite ill at his Penns Valley home with typhoid fever.

—On Sunday evening at the Lutheran parsonage at Aaronsburg by Rev. B. R. M. Sheeder, Charles A. Rishel and Miss Maud M. Bower, of Coburn, were united in marriage.

—The new furniture for the Post Office has all arrived and is being placed in position by Charles Wetzel and Vince Bauer. It is made by the McClain Manufacturing Company of Milford, N. H. It is very handsome and makes the Post Office look quite citified.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter, Lycoming county's oldest woman and widow of the late John Ritter, died Monday evening at Muncy at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Geasy She was aged 93 years, 10 months and 15 days. She is survived by eight children.

—Verlus Walters, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walters, of Woodward, who was so badly hurt in a runaway accident last week, died at the home of his parents last Thursday morning aged 11 years 4 months and 14 days. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at Woodward conducted by Rev. Owen L. Buck and interment was made in the Union cemetery at that place.

—One Tuesday Mrs. Gummo, of Buffalo Run went to Tyrone to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans. She met with what might have been a very serious accident. After getting off the street car at Twenty first street she started to walk on the pavement in front of the McCann property on the corner of Twenty-first and Columbia avenue, carrying her baby, when she fell through the pavement, falling on the infant and also bruising herself badly.

—On Wednesday, while John Reynolds was engaged in painting the home of Ed Isenberg at Baileyville, he fell from a ladder and sustained severe injuries It is miraculous how Mr. Reynolds escaped instant death. He was working on the cornice under the comb of the roof when the ladder slipped. He fell a distance of about 40 feet into the cellar striking his head on a sill of the cellar-way. He was badly cut and bruised about the head. His one leg was also badly injured.

—One of Dr. G. B. Merrell's classmates at the Pennsylvania Dental College, whose home is in Scottdale, one night last winter befriended an old gentleman in Philadelphia, who apparently did not have enough money to buy supper or lodging for the night. This young man generously volunteered to pay for the old gentleman's supper, lodging and breakfast. In the meantime the old man asked the younger his name and address, which was given him. This was in the middle of last winter. The young man forgot all about the circumstances. However, a few days ago he received word that the old gentleman, who was a manufacturer in England, had died and had willed him twenty thousand dollars, which has just been received by the young man. This plainly shows that it is best to always be kind, friendly and charitably to every one. There are a great many people, however, not built that way.

—A gang of the Fourteen regiment men engaged in a round of exercises at a hotel in Somerset on Thursday night of last week which are not to be found in the military code of regulations or drill, and it is probable that a considerable bill of damages will have to be paid by the guilty parties. The hotel man claims $100 for a broken plate glass window and $150 damage to business and destruction of property, following an attack in the building. It is said a test will be made to see just how far State soldiers may go in their depredations without being held responsible, The proprietor of the hotel claims that the soldiers exceeded their authority when they stopped civilians from entering the barroom. The bill was presented to Gen. Wiley, who referred the climant to the commander of the Fourteenth regiment, who in turn refused to pay it. So the matter is likely to be referred to the court for adjustment. The Fourteenth is a Pittsburg regiment. It has been thought that in the final adjustment of the organization of the Second brigade, N. G. P., that either the Fifth or Fourteenth would be disbanded, and this racket will probably very much weaken the case of the Fourteenth.

FIELDS FOR OUR TRADE

Siberia Likes American Machinery, Says Agent Greener.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT LENDS AID

Assists In the Distribution of American Agricultural Appliances—Possible Commercial Relations With India—Cuba Making an Effort to Restock Island With Cattle—Our Flour In China.

There is such a demand in Siberia for agricultural machinery and appliances of American manufacture that the minister of agriculture in that country has decided to lend government aid to its distribution. Commercial Agent Greener at Vladivostok informs the state department at Washington that a special fund has been set aside to establish at Habarofsk a government warehouse for the benefit of importing jobbers, says J. D. Whelpley in the New York Commercial Advertiser. The pre-Amur management of imperial properties will have charge and will operate to a large extent in American goods.

The Siberian officials state that they are greatly in need of information from competent sources regarding the purchase and importation of such goods from the United States, and they ask for the address of firms dealing in agricultural machinery, price lists and catalogues, lists of steamships plying between the United States and Vladivostok and the best terms upon which goods will be sold.

Mr. Greener also finds considerable complaint to the effect that in quoting prices American firms do not state their bottom figures. What is needed is the lowest quotation for goods, details as to payments in cash or on time, the latter being preferred, and several copies of a brief catalogue in the Russian language.

Consul General Patterson, at Calcutta, is confident that a large increase the American trade would follow the establishment of a rapid and reliable freight line of steamers between New York and Calcutta. He says that the only way goods can be shipped at present from New York to Calcutta is via Glasgow, Liverpool, London or Naples, and there is long delay in making these shipments. Out of the $250,000,000 worth of goods imported annually by India the United States only had about 1.5 per cent of the trade, while England had about 67 per cent and Germany, France and Belgium, in the order named, the larger part of the remainder.

About 50 per cent of the imports are cotton goods, and the next largest are iron and steel manufactures, and the American consul sees no reason why the United States should not compete in these lines. He says that if a direct line of steamers was established between New York and Calcutta, sailing not less than once every month, the passage not to be more than forty days, the importers could then rely upon receiving their goods at specified times.

Consul Patterson also recommends the putting of active, capable men into the field to exploit the markets of the country. There are no restrictions on trade in India, the only obstacle being the lack of rapid transit and more determined effort to secure business.

In line with the suggestion made by Consul Patterson the bureau of statistics at Washington has been looking up the figures on the trade between India and the United States. India ranks sixth among the exporting and tenth among the importing countries. Last year her exports amounted to over $400,000,000 and her imports to $264,000,000. Thirty-six per cent of these imports were cottons. Next on the list were iron and steel products. The bureau estimates that 50 per cent of India's imports are of a class of goods which might be called indigenous to the United States and that fully three-fourths of the entire list is made up of articles successfully produced by and exported from the United States. Notwithstanding this fact, our exports to India amount to less than 2 per cent of the imports of that country.

The popularity of American flour in China is attracting attention on both sides of the globe. The British consul general at Canton in a report sent from China to London and published in that city states that the demand for flour among emigrants returned from the United States is so great that the quantity of flour imported in 1902 exceeded that of 1901 by 95,831,328 pounds and was also some 78,400,000 pounds in excess of the average for the past five years. Stated in dollars, we are now selling to the Chinese $4,607,000 worth of flour annually.

The Cuban republic is making an effort to encourage the restocking of the island with cattle, especially those of a good breed. The duty has been changed so that breeding sheep and cows come in free of cost, and the duty has been reduced on blooded stock. The government has also exempted barbed wire and staples used in building fences from the payment of the tariff duties, hoping thereby to encourage the inclosure of large pastures.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" It can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant.

Inexpensive Suit Case.

Something less expensive than a leather suit case and lighter, too, in weight may be made at home to answer the purpose of the former. Make a linen or a denim cover for one of the oblong pasteboard boxes so much used in delivering goods. Tan colored linen, dark red denim, brown hollands—any one of these makes a stout, serviceable cover. Stiffen two straps with an interlining of canvas. Stitch many rows on these to make them strong and fasten with small metal buckles. This traveling case will cost so little that you can afford the working of your initials on one of the sides.

THE BIG PICNIC.

Business Men's Association Prepares for a Big Time at Hecla Park.

The second meeting for this year of the Business Men's Association of Centre and Clinton counties was held in the parlors of the Brockerhoff House Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting was to make further preparations for the coming Business Men's Picnic to be held at Hecla Park, August 19th.

Those present were the following named gentlemen, P. P. Rittman, Herbert Rothrock, Hays Stuart, Geo. A. McDonald, Torrence Shearer, Geo. W. Mason, F. Watson Fredericks, Frank Kinsloe, Lock Haven Express, D. I. McNaul, of the Clinton Democrat, all of Lock Haven; Samuel H. Bennison, of Abders, Oscar Miles, of Milesburg, T. J. Smull, of Mackeyville; John Sourbeck, Hammond Sechler, A. C. Mingle, J. Will Conley, Francis Speer, Fred Kurtz Sr., John Bullock, W. Harrison Walker, John Olewine and a representative of this paper.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President Rittman and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary J. Will Conley and approved,

The Amusement committee were then called on for their report. A ball game has been arranged for between Harrisburg and Williamsport ball teams. In the afternoon there will be horse racing and at night there will be a minstrel show, cake walk and fire works. John D. Sourbeck will have charge of the pyrotechnics and he promises a grand treat.

A communication was received from Chamberlain Brothers, showmen, who want to exhibit their circus at the Park on Business Men's day. It was referred to the Management committee with power to act.

The Printing committee had no report to make and will not until after the other committees make their reports.

Chairman Miles of the Music committee reported having secured three bands and an orchestra. Two bands are from Clinton county and one from Centre county.

Chairman Mingle of the Finance committee reported that the attractions desired would cost $635.00 the amount of which is about raised. The report was accepted and approved

J. Will Conley of the Management committee reported that there was good prospects of securing Mrs. Carrie Nation to deliver one of her famous lectures. This in itself would draw many thousand people to the park to see this famous woman.

The various committees were ordered to make their final reports to the management committee as soon as possible.

After the deliberations were over the committee and guests were conducted into the dining room where Landlord Ray had a sumptuous repast spread for their benefit. It was a triumph of the culinary art and all present were pleased with the service. Speeches were made by Major Walker and T. J. Smull of Mackeyville.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Warfield for his kindness in entertaining the committee.

Coleville Band Wins Honors.

Our famous Coleville Band that we all feel so proud of, and who accompanied the Logan Fire Engine company to Clearfield on Friday to the Fireman's convention, came home Friday evening covered with honors and bringing with them a prize of $50 00. In the contest they competed with some of the very best bands in the state and our boys came out winners. The selection with which they won the prize was a grand medley overture entitled "Superba" by Delba. We extend our heartest congratulations to the boys and wish them the same kind of success wherever they may go.

PIUS X., THE NEW POPE

IN April, 1902, when the late Pope Leo XIII. was in practically perfect health and there was no probability that his brilliant reign would be so soon cut short by the grim reaper, the pontiff remarked in a serious conversation with Father Perosi, the Italian priest whose musical compositions have made him famous the world over, that he was convinced that his successor would be Cardinal Sarto, the patriarch of Venice. When the recent conclave went into session there seemed little probability that Leo's prophecy would be fulfilled, for Rampolla seemed to have an almost commanding lead among the members of the college of cardinals, with Oreglia, Gotti and Serafino Vannutelli as strong possibilities. Besides these, there were several others who were thought to be likely candidates in case the rivalry among the leaders should become so intense as to make the election of any one of them impossible. But Sarto's name was scarcely mentioned except among the most reverent who remembered the prediction of Pope Leo and those who were mindful of the popularity in the Catholic church of Cardinal Sarto, which by many was regarded as being second not even to that of Leo himself. Cardinal Sarto, now Pope Pius X., evidently did not seriously consider himself as one of the papabili, for the evening before his election he declared, in speaking to a friend who had suggested that he might be the next pope, that when he started for Rome from Venice he had bought a return ticket. But the unexpected has happened, and Leo's prediction has been fulfilled—Cardinal Sarto is Pope Pius X., and the Roman Catholic church is satisfied that the progress made during the reign of Leo XIII. is to be continued and perhaps amplified under the administration of the present pontiff.

Pope Leo's prediction was considered remarkable by reason of the fact that because of Sarto's position with reference to a modus vivendi between the church and the state he seemed to be on that important point directly opposed to Leo. For instance, Cardinal Sarto publicly announced his joy when there were strong probabilities of a union between church and state, and his accession to the pontificate has long been regarded in certain quarters as the solution of the Roman problem so long unsolved and so long a cause of dissension over all Italy, to say nothing of its bearing upon the attitude of other Catholic countries. Cardinal Sarto is noted for his prudence, having never meddled with politics, and for extreme independence. He is also a patron of the arts, and launched Father Lorenzo Perosi, the celebrated priest composer.

The cardinal is recognized as one of the most learned men in the church. He is a stickler for the exact truth as between the church and the people, and won much renown some years ago by destroying certain relics of doubtful authenticity. He brings to his high office a character of most attractive modesty, unusual energy in the direction of matters large and small, the talents of a fine administrative officer and the first qualities of an organizer. In addition to his abilities and his undoubted Christian character, the cardinal is, from the sweetness of his nature, beloved by many millions of people. It is certain that no prelate would have a more enthusiastic sanction from the laity.

Pope Pius X. is sixty-eight years old. He was born at Riese, in the province of Venice, and was educated in the Salesian institute at Cottolengo, founded by the famous Dom Bosco. He was always of a serious turn of mind and when a young man his rector said to him that he had "never been a child."

Cardinal Sarto was not "discovered" until he had reached middle age. He was a parish priest in the province of Venice for the most of his years and finally became a bishop. His high executive qualities and unexcelled learning became known soon after his elevation and were recognized by the authorities of the church. It was not until 1893 that he was created a cardinal, at which time he was also named as patriarch of Venice. Thus the modest but able parish priest became the head of the province in which he had served so many years in a lowly position. His selection was made by the consistory of 1893, which was compelled to sue the throne for the privilege of installing him as patriarch of Venice. In return for this concession, which was made through Premier Crispi, the church appointed an ecclesiastical vicar apostolic in northeastern Africa to assist the premier in his pet scheme of extending the African colonies.

Cardinal Sarto had not been in office more than a year before he publicly declared for a union between church and state, speaking in no uncertain way. His utterances created a great sensation, and it was felt that he might have offended the holy father by the fervor of his words. Apparently he received the silent approbation of the pope, in whose estimation he ever held a firm place.

It was said at the time that Cardinal Sarto made his public announcement that the Austrian and Prussian ambassadors at the Vatican were endeavoring to induce the papal authorities to agree to a modus vivendi. Emperor Francis Joseph is reported to have written several letters to the pope with this end in view, and Emperor William of Germany is said to have been equally anxious to bring about an understanding between the Vatican and the Italian government.

For more than three decades a gulf has yawned between the rival palaces of king and pope, a gulf material and political. For thirty-five years—since the Italians battered down the massive walls near the old Porta Pia—earnest men and noble women of all parties have been dreaming and hoping that the mighty breach between victors and vanquished might in some way be closed.

It was said of Pope Leo that in 1878, when he had just succeeded Pope Pius IX., he longed for some amicable arrangement with the Italians, but if he did reasons of state outweighed his private wish. He was silent, and thus pledged himself to the no compromise party.

It is strange that while Sarto was never seriously considered by the public at large or by the ordinary press correspondents as a papal probability, his availability was commented upon by the really thoughtful writers more frequently than that of any other cardinal. As an example, a special correspondent of a prominent American daily last April wrote as follows to his paper concerning Cardinal Sarto and the papacy:

"It is Cardinal Guiseppe Sarto, the patriarch of Venice, the friend and patron of Abbe Perosi, the composer, who is at the present moment regarded not only throughout Italy, but likewise in the principal capitals of Europe, as destined to become the next pope. So little has been heard of him until now in connection with the papal succession that he may be regarded in the light of a dark horse in the race, which is perhaps due to the fact that he rarely goes to Rome, that he has never been a resident of the Eternal City, and that from the time of his being appointed vicar general of the diocese of Treviso until now he has held steadily aloof from all the projects of the curia.

"The vast majority of the Italian cardinals, and especially those who, forming part of the curia, are established in the Eternal City, have won their promotion to the sacred college as members of the diplomatic service of the papacy rather than as priests. And when a prelate has spent the greater portion of his life in diplomacy, and has found it the stepping stone to high honors, it naturally leaves him at the close of his career as representative of the Vatican abroad, with a greater leaning toward statecraft than toward the administrative and doctrinal duties of his office at Rome. Many persons declare that it is imperative that the next pontiff should be a prelate who would devote his entire energies to reforms of an administrative and economic character, and likewise to the more rigid enforcement of the doctrines and discipline of the church.

"Cardinal Sarto, the patriarch of Venice, is the man of all others who fills these requirements. He is probably the most able adminstrator of the Italian episcopacy, combines firmness and determination with abundant tact and common sense, and has managed to institute a number of very practical reforms in his archdiocese of Venice without giving offense either to the clergy or to the laity. He avoids all newspaper notoriety. Indeed, his name is rarely mentioned in the press. He has always understood how to maintain an agreeable yet dignified modus vivendi with the Italian authorities, from whom he derives his stipend, and has shown his enlightenment by the vigorous campaign which he has carried on against the veneration of relics of questionable authenticity. He is on friendly terms with the members of the reigning house of Italy, during the late reign took part with King Humbert and Queen Margherita in the launching of a man-of-war at Venice, as well as in other state ceremonies at which they were present, and would certainly be a most agreeable choice as pope to the present ruler of Italy. He is just sixty-eight years old, which will be in his favor in the eyes of the conclave, since, as a general rule, that number of years constitutes a guarantee that the pontificate will not be of undue length."

School Matters.

At a meeting of the Boro School Board on Monday evening the resignation of Prof. Jonas E. Wagner, instructor in the Senior Grammar school was accepted. He secured another position with the public schools at Kunzua, Warren, Pa. R. U. Wasson, a graduate of the class 1903, State College, was elected to fill the vacancy. Last year it cost over $500 for steam heat for the Stone building, and the Brick building on Bishop street was heated for one-half that amount, by individual furnace. The board empowered a committee to install an individual boiler in the building, and secure their own heat. A change in some of the text books was advocated.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

—Be careful of the children during dog days.

—The Lock Haven dam will be repaired at an expenditure of many thousands of dollars.

—The Centre County Medical Association held their monthly meeting in the Arbitration room at the Court House Tuesday.

—J. A. Garthoff, the new substitute carrier, has been chasing over the town the past week learning just how the thing is done. As he has good wind and a pair of stout legs he should make a good one.

—Mr. Newton A. Miller, and Miss Annie Ratcliff, both of Philipsburg, were united in marriage in the Episcopal church at this place Saturday afternoon by Rev. George Israel Brown. May joy go with them.

—The other day while John Krape of Howard, was cutting down a tree he cut into two large black snakes and several little ones. The large ones he succeeded in killing but some of the little ones disappeared.

—One day last week, Mr. Joel Kling, who lives above Jacksonville was kicked on the adams apple and in the stomach by a horse, he putting it in the stable when it kicked him. He is said to be suffering much pain.

—The Veterans Association of Clinton county will hold their tenth annual picnic at Agar's Park on Thursday, August 20th. Among the speakers will be D. F. Fortney Esq., and Dr. H. C. Holloway, both of this place.

—A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A G. Kuhn, of Rock View, Monday evening. The bride was Miss Flora B. Kuhn and the groom John T. Meyers a former clerk in Lyon & Co's. dry goods store. The newly wedded couple will go at once to Millheim where Mr. Meyers and his brother have purchased the butcher establishment. They will make Millheim their future home.

—James Shirt committed suicide at Bennington, Saturday morning by shooting himself at the home of Frank Jones, a farmer. He had been drinking heavily, and made the remark to one of the Jones family that if he couldn't stop drinking he would kill himself. He was aged 33 years and the home of his parents is at Philipsburg, where the remains were taken for burial.

—The state fish commission will send no fish for stocking purposes to persons who desire to place them in private waters. This is now prohibited by law, and a penalty of $25 is provided for applying for fish for such waters. In former years a large number of trout have been secured from the state and used in streams in which the public were prohibited from fishing.

—John Halton, a prominent citizen of Altoona, was instantly killed in a runaway accident near that city about 6 o'clock Monday evening. Mr. Halton was engaged in the coal and lime business and was driving out in the country to see about purchasing some curbstone. The holding-back strap broke and his horse ran away, throwing him out and fracturing the left side of his skull. He was about 60 years old and was well known in parts of this county.

—James Merritts, a young man aged 22 years, at his home a mile distant from Spruce Creek, while in bed about noon Sunday, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. No reason is known for the rash act. He had been employed on a farm in the vicinity, but had ceased work a week or two ago. He was the son of George Merritts, who is employed as a track hand on the Pennsylvania railroad at that point. He was the only son. His parents and a couple sisters survive.

—Last week at the farm of Wallace W. Stryker, in Sinking valley, George W. Bridenbaugh, while oiling the threshing machine, had his coat caught in the machinery wrapping him about so tight that the power propelled by an eight horse team was stopped. Mr. Bridenbaugh, was only released when his clothing was cut in strips from his person. Fortunately he escaped with a few bruises and a bad scare. If steam power had been in use we might have had a different tale to relate.

—Two colored men were corraled in an alley at Altoona for about two hours Friday, one of whom suffered from smallpox. They were strangers in the city, and the attention of Poor Director Pensyl was called to the condition of the sick man. A physician pronounced his affliction smallpox. A policeman was called into service who kept the man from getting away until the arrival of Steward Bridenbaugh, of the almshouse, who took them to the contagious disease hospital. The men were kept in the alley for nearly two hours before being removed, and a large crowd collected about the vicinity. No one would hire the authorities a cab in which to take the men away and it was necessary to await the arrival of the almshouse conveyance.

THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

The publisher of the Bellefonte Republican has determined to give away absolutely free, to some deserving church, chapel or Sundayschool in Centre county a handsome Chapel organ. With this end in view he entered into a contract with M. C. Gephart the well known piano dealer of Bellefonte for the purchase of a "Burdett" Chapel organ, manufactured by the well known piano firm, the Hobart N. Cable Company of Chicago, Ill. The organ will be on exhibition in the store room of M. C. Gephart on South Allegheny street.

The Bellefonte Republican has decided to ask its patrons to select by vote as to what church, chapel, or Sunday school shall have the organ. The method of voting is as follows:

Newspaper coupons—A blank ballot or coupon will be printed in each copy of the Bellefonte Republican and the name can be filled in same for whatever Church, Sunday school or religious organization you may want to vote. These votes should be sent into this office at once, as they will not be counted after they are six weeks old, and the date any number of each will appear on them.

Premium Coupons:—Any persons who sends in a NEW CASH subscriber to this paper can get a Premium Coupon entitling him to four votes for each month paid or 50 for a full year. No subscriptions will be received for less than six months. Our regular subscribers by paying their subscription in advance will receive a Premium Coupon that will entitle them to 2 votes for each month paid 25 votes for a full years.

Tuesday Night's Fire alarm.

Two burning electric light wires above the building occupied by S. H. Williams, the painter, caused enough excitement Tuesday evening to attract hundreds of people to the scene and call out both the Logan and Undine Fire companies.

It happened about half past eight o'clock. First the street lights went out and then in a few minutes the shrill cry of fire alarmed the citizens.

The cause of the trouble was two electric light wires which the wind blew together causing them to ignite. The trouble was soon remedied without serious damage being done.
